KENNEDY

Special Guest Speaker - Ted C. Kennedy

Long known for his advocacy of training and education, Ted Kennedy has led by example to prove the importance of a well trained, knowledgeable workforce. As the co-founder of BE&K, Inc., a worldwide engineering, construction and contract maintenance firm, Mr. Kennedy was instrumental in the success of the firm which was named one of the top sixteen medalist companies out of 300 honored in the book, "Companies That Care – The Most Family-Friendly Companies in the United States". BEK's Child Development Center, BEKare, received the NOVA Award in 1991 for innovation in providing benefits to construction workers and recruiting women into the construction workforce. BE&K was also chosen by Fortune magazine as one of the 100 best work places in America. In 1981 and 1989, Engineering News-Record magazine recognized Mr. Kennedy as a "Man Who Made His Mark", and again in 1999 they recognized him as "one of the top 125 industry leaders within the past 125 years". Mr. Kennedy will discuss what he believes firms need to do today to recruit and retain employees, contributing not only to the long-term success of the company but the success of the employee.
